

TRAIL TEMPORARILY CLOSED

to give our native Timber Rattlesnakes some space

For your safety, and to avoid disturbing the snakes, please enjoy your hike on an alternative trail.

THE TIMBER RATTLESNAKE Born to be Wild...and Respected

The Timber Rattlesnake is a native species to New York State.
They are listed as "Threatened" and protected by state law — it is illegal to pursue, disturb, capture, harm or kill them.
(NYS Environmental Conservation Law (ECL) § 11-0535)